Rick Stubblefield

When navigating the maze of insurance coverage, you want a guide who knows which path is best for you.

"I help people understand what insurance is and what it isn't," says Rick Stubblefield, agency owner for Farmer's Insurance. "I sell services to meet your individual needs and peace of mind."

Specializing in auto, home, life and commercial insurance, Rick believes that serving his customers doesn't end once the ink dries on their policy. His passion to be there for his clients has been the focus of his business for 13 years.

"What I'm really selling is me," he adds, "and what I can do for you after the sale. I want you to get the best service possible."

Rick is a fifth-generation Oregonian, with strong ties to the Enterprise/Joseph area of Eastern Oregon. His great-grandfather is credited as one of the founding fathers of Enterprise.

He and wife, Patty, are the parents of three grown children.

Mike Amato

Over 25 years ago Mike Amato moved indoors after working at a nursery, and has never been happier. He loves talking with people, and giving them the customer satisfaction they have come to expect from the Parts Manager at Gresham Ford. In fact, Mike has earned the Employee Excellence award 3 out of 4 years. Being the only dealership in the East County area that has a QuickLane that services all makes and models allows him to talk with everyone, not just Ford owners.

When he is not manning the parts department at Gresham Ford, he spends time with his wife, two children and his extremely energetic Jack Russel Terrier. He is an avid bike rider and golfer, and loves traveling. He really enjoys warm climates, having traveled to Costa Rica and Hawaii on recent excursions.

But he still loves the time he spends at Gresham Ford. His enthusiasm for his career has spilled over to his son, who also works at Gresham Ford now. Stop by and see Mike the next time you need work or parts for your car, no matter what the make.

Steve Johnson

Steve Johnson

Steve believes that it's because of the number technicians with years of experience and dozens of certifications that puts Gresham Ford in a category all to itself.

In many cases it's a man's father who gets his son into a particular business, but not in Steve's case. Steve's father was a child star who was in over 20 movies. But he may have handed down the ability to handle different roles and situations with ease. One of Steve's favorite things about his job is that there is always something new, or a new challenge to tackle. When away from work, Steve still loves the sound of an engine. He enjoys racing his dune buggy whenever he gets the chance.

To see what your car sounds like when it's perfectly tuned and adjusted, see Steve at Gresham Ford.

Roger Robinson

Roger Robinson is owner/partner with James West of Eastwind Computers, 2550 S.E. Burnside Road in Gresham. Eastwind offers computer repair and sales of new and used desktop and laptop computers and peripherals. Robinson describes the events that led to their ownership as, "A God thing." Before becoming owners of the business, both men worked at the Rockwood Fred Meyer (Robinson had been there for 11 years). "We worked in grocery, mostly nights, and dreamed of having a computer store of our own," he said. Robinson, who knew the previous owners, began helping at the shop in 1998. Before long he was working part time at Eastwind and part time at Fred Meyer. By 1999, the previous owner wanted to pursue another business venture, and offered to sign the business over to Robinson. A 50/50 partnership was formed in 2000 between Robinson and West. Since then, the partners have grown the business to be well-known and trusted by clients. Robinson says Eastwind's large inventory and retail space, as well as its large repair shop, allow for high productivity and quick turn around. Eastwind does onsite service for many local Gresham businesses and residents. "We have always prided ourselves on offering honest, high-quality repairs at an affordable price and building computers that last," Robinson said. Roger and his wife recently celebrated their 21st anniversary. They have three daughters, 16, 18, and 20 and a 1 year old foster baby. "Foster parenting is our newest adventure, and one we're blessed to be a part of".

Carey Thomas

Carey Thomas is a Production Supervisor at Eastco Diversified Services, Inc. and he has been with the company for 7 years.

I enjoy my job as it allows me to give back to the community and seeing the individuals I work with learn work skills and earn wages. It is very interesting as all the work I oversee is done by workers with developmental disabilities. By focusing on their abilities, not the disability, it is amazing to see what they can achieve. All the individuals I work with, train and supervise, are unique and finding the best ways to train and motivate them keeps my job interesting. They can do an amazing array of tasks in packaging and light assembling.

I have two brothers. One has a disability and is living on his own in California. My mother is a great singer and musician. She is collaborating with me on my solo project.

I play piano, guitar and sing and my aspirations are to be successful in music. I have an original, alternative, hard rock band named Riverpool, and am the lead singer. Check it out at: Riverpoolband@gmail.com

ROBIN B. MCGREGOR

I guess you could say that investing is in Robin McGregor's blood. At 13 years old, he asked his father to take his savings from summer work and purchase $800 worth of United Nuclear, which was a stock he had been following. The stock did quite well, and Robin has been investing ever since. He has since become a Financial Advisor with Edward Jones, and every day he gets to try to instill excitement and confidence in his customer base. It must be working because over the past 27 years with Edward Jones, Robin has worked with many of the same customers.

Edward Jones has built a vast office network of more than 12,000 branches in the U.S. and Canada. The company's mission is to provide convenient financial services to its customers. It's a company Robin has appreciated since he graduated with a degree in Business and Finance from the University of Montana. Robin says, with a bit of a tongue in cheek, that he also graduated with a minor in skiing.

Robin is married to his wife Loretta, and between them they have six children, 7 grandchildren and a 2 great-grandchildren.

Fabian Santana

At Agave Azul, serving up great Mexican food is a family affair. From the kitchen to serving diners and even the artwork on the walls, relatives of co-owner Fabian Santana have been providing customers with an authentic Mexican ambiance and menu for over 2 years.

Already the proprietor of two Tapatio restaurants, in Aloha and Cherry Park Plaza in Troutdale, Fabian decided their 10-year success was a sign to expand into Gresham. For nearly two years, Fabian and his childhood friend and partner, Juan Nuno, painstakingly remodeled a small building that once housed a tea room. Now enhanced with hardwood floors, stained-glass panels and separate dining and bar areas, Agave Azul features traditional Mexican favorites at affordable prices.

"Most everybody who comes to Agave Azul for the first time recommends it to someone else," Fabian says, "so I value my customer's loyalty."

Pete Lackner

Pete Lackner is owner of Rose City Associates, where they craft personal and professional business insurance packages to protect their client's assets. He's been in the business 31 years "and counting".

Pete began his formal insurance training fresh out of college as a claims adjuster with the St. Paul Companies in Portland, OR and witnessed first hand how a properly structured insurance program saves peoples lives and businesses. "I knew at that time I wanted to be an agent", says Pete.

He carries special certification, SCLA (Senior Claims Law Associate) and CIC (Certified Insurance Counselor).

Pete says "we are not a mass marketing machine. Our clients are hand selected or referral based. When they need help, they talk to us not a 1-800 number. To us, insurance is NOT a commodity".

"The best part of my job is when a client comes to me and tells me how satisfied they are with our services." Rose City Associates is in the business to help people, thus their motto, "People helping people". Each client is treated as if they are the most important customer in their office.

Pete and his wife have lived in the Portland/Vancouver area for the past three decades. They have raised four children.

Pete has deep roots in Oregon, Washington and his home state of Minnesota. Pete says, "my hometown is so small that when they have class reunions, all classes are involved".

Jerry's Custom Paint & Collision Center

Jerry Geisler, the owner of Jerry's Custom Paint & Collision Center, started his business in 1979 out of his love for cars. He got his start in the business at 15 years old, working for a repair shop in Damascus, Oregon. He's been at his current location on 11 Mile Avenue since 1993. Jerry's does complete collision repair on any car and he and his staff are always current on industry training. His is the only shop in town, which will take a hot rod or muscle car and do insurance work. Although they specialize in Corvettes, they can repair any car, because they work with all insurance companies. Oregon law states that you can choose to work with the repair company of your choice.

Jerry says "the word, custom in our name means additional quality, not additional cost".

Jerry is married to Lori and they have twin children. Their daughter, Andrea recently graduated from OIT in radiology and MRI. She's back in Gresham and job-seeking in MRI. Their son, Brian, is attending school at The Art Center for Design. His automotive design skills were featured last year at Rip Caswell's gallery.

SMIDDY'S

Smiddy's Carpet & Upholstery Cleaning has been in business since 1975. Smiddy got started in the business when he was 18 years old, doing carpet and upholstery cleaning for his step-dad in California. In 1980, his family bought Carpeteria in Portland - after it closed, Smiddy decided to venture out on his own cleaning carpet & upholstery as well as installation and repair of carpet, vinyl and tile. He's also a water damage specialist.

Most of you have heard of him...he's known as the "folk singing carpet cleaner". Smiddy says "The difference between me and the guy who cleans your carpets for $69 is that I charge a reasonable rate without "upcharging" for pet stains and other spots. The guy who does it for $69 tacks on those extra charges and in the end you're paying the same (or more) for the other guy". Smiddy prides himself on great customer service and loves helping people and seeing the smile on their face when their carpets are clean. Smiddy is an IICRC certified carpet cleaner and is also a flooring and carpet inspector.

Smiddy is involved in the community, a member of the Gresham Chamber of Commerce.

You may have seen him performing in East County's Got Talent, local pubs or even at "Music Mondays" on the Plaza for Center for the Arts.

He has been married to his wife, Linda, for 37 years and has three grown daughters and four grandchildren. He enjoys time with his family.

If you are in need of clean carpets or the other services Smiddy provides, give him a call. He'd be happy to give you a free estimate and knows you'll be pleased with the results!

Steve Krause

A passion for craft beer has driven Steve Krause to a new type of business, unique to the Gresham Area. The Hoppy Brewer sells home beer brewing supplies, ingredients and equipment. It's a hobby that is becoming more and more popular with the success of many craft brewers in the northwest in particular. One of the things Steve enjoys most is to turn people on to brewing beer at home, or simply on to a new type of beer they've never tried. The education and experience he provides to his customers shows, and is a product of a lifetime of working in retail.

Steve's wife Sally is from England, so it's no mistake that they are owners of an ale house. She is just as passionate in craft beers as Steve. In fact, many of their family road trips involve finding brew pubs, and possibly even a new type of beer he can fall in love with. Steve and Sally also have a beautiful 3-year-old daughter who enjoys many of the outdoor activities her parents enjoy, such as hiking and skiing.

Even though The Hoppy Brewer has been open for 3 short months, it's evident, with the popularity of home brewing and the excellent customer service that The Hoppy Brewer will become a Gresham institution for many years to come.

Join us at The Hoppy Brewer for a pint or two in our courtyard where you too can become, if you are not already, a hoppy brewer. Cheers!

Outlook readers know a great breakfast when they find one.

"We were excited to be voted the Reader's Choice Best Breakfast for 2010," says Ron Clement, chef and owner of Wildwood Café on Main in Historic Downtown Gresham. "We've got a wonderful family atmosphere, with quality food that obviously, our customers like." A graduate of Western Culinary Institute in Portland, Ron says being both chef and owner of the café is "not a job, but a passion." He opened the restaurant on Main Avenue two years ago, after discovering the charm in Gresham's downtown core. "We had a location outside of Gresham, but we wanted to move to a better area," he says. "Downtown Gresham was an unknown niche and I wanted to be part of a growing area." The café features high-end homemade menu items, fresh produce from local growers and offers catering services for on-site/off-site events. It's also a family-run operation, with day-to-day support provided by various members of Ron's family. Father of 9-year old, Tyler, Ron enjoys off-road racing and spending time with his son.

Scott Downing, PC

Attorney At Law

Sometimes, fate chooses your career. "My father was an attorney, as was his father and grandfather," says Scott Downing, owner of Scott Downing, PC in Gresham. "Both of my father's brothers are attorneys and my father's sister married an attorney. So you could say I was destined for the profession."

Destiny or not, Scott's lineage among attorneys has led to a 31-year practice exclusively in Gresham. He specializes in family law, including support, divorce and separation, prenuptial agreements and parenting disputes. He also offers estate planning and probate, as well as some small business formation and real estate disputes.

Knowing that legal issues are taxing both emotionally and financially, Scott is passionate about helping his clients resolve their problems compassionately and as stress-free as possible.

"I am very conscious of the cost of legal services," he says, "and I strive to make myself affordable for my clients. I favor resolution over litigation, but will go to court if that is the last resort. The best part of my job is helping clients solve difficult emotional and financial problems and allowing them to have control over the outcome of their dispute or problem."

Married for 31 years, Scott and his wife enjoy golfing and Scott enjoys skiing, snowboarding, hiking and spending time in the outdoors. Son Michael, is married and an engineer with Apple, while daughter, Angela, is pursuing her Masters Degree in Speech Pathology at Portland State University.

OUTLOOK SANDY POST

Pictured here are some of the men who work every week to bring The Outlook, Sandy Post and Estacada News to your mailbox.

From the newsroom to the advertising department to the pressroom and distribution department, these individuals are engaged in the production of the newspaper — and also in many community causes.

For more than 100 years, The Outlook has been the primary source of news and advertising for East Multnomah County. And for three quarters of a century, The Post has been the place where the Sandy community looks for news and shopping information. The Estacada News has been writing about its community since 1904.

During a time when large daily newspapers are struggling to retain readers and advertisers, community newspapers across America are thriving because they provide hyper-local content in print and online that readers cannot find anywhere else — and these newspapers have performed that role for many, many decades.

Also, we look forward to the next Women in Business section, because then you'll see who does most of the real work around here!

Rich George knows that it's all about the customers. It's a philosophy shared by all of the employees at Les Schwab, and is evident each time you pull your car into their parking lot. Rich, or another customer service representative will come running up to your car, and ask what they can do for you. Rich enjoys the customer service he provides as the Lead Alignment Technician, he's been with the company for 24 years. He started with Les Schwab because he wanted to work for a well-known company with good pay and benefits, and he's never been sorry for his choice.

Rich has been married for over 18 years, and has two children, a son, 16, and a daughter, 13. As a family, they enjoy hiking, camping, motorcycle riding, and ATVs. It's because everyone in his family likes the same activities that really makes it possible and enjoyable to spend a lot of time together.

But while he's at work, it's all about the customers. Seeing a smile on their face as they realize that he has done an exceptional job working on their car is the most enjoyable part of his job. Stop by and see what Les Schwab, and Rich George, can do for you.

Wendell Cook

Wendell Cook has a deep love for art, but back when he was considering art school, he discovered that floral school was more affordable. He decided to get into the Floraculture program at the University of Massachusetts. That program began a life-long love of flowers that led him into his career as owner and head designer for 21 years at Nancy's Floral on East Burnside. He has discovered that an impeccably designed flower arrangement invokes the same emotions in his customers as does a beautiful painting or sculpture. Wendell loves to please his customers with his arrangements and window displays. He particularly enjoys taking a customer's ideas, especially when they are different, and turning them into 3-dimensional works of art. The fact that he also gets to work with his wife Carole, his son Rob and his daughter Lisa every day makes his craft all the more enjoyable. When not designing floral arrangements, Wendell enjoys gardening, classical music, woodworking and playing the organ for his church.

FULL SERVICE FLOWERS & GIFTS
NANCY'S

Rob Cook

When his parents purchased Nancy's Floral from its original owner, Rob Cook saw the opportunity to put his experience with computers to bring the family business into the digital age. Although he had no formal training in the floral industry -- he holds a bachelor's degree in architecture -- Rob discovered that real-world experience is some of the best training available anywhere. Since he joined the company in 1990, he has helped establish Nancy's as one of the largest and best shops in the east county. They offer an unsurpassed selection of flowers, plants and gifts, and they deliver to the entire Portland Metro area twice daily. It's his close attention to detail, and his dedication to making his customers smile that really helps Nancy's stand out in a crowd. Rob gets to work with his sister Lisa and his parents Wendell and Carole each day, which of course makes for a fulfilling career.

Family Nurse Practitioner John Zeier of UrgentCare NW loves to help people reach a higher level of health. Of course that involves stabilizing patients as quickly as possible when they have had an injury or illness, but it also involves motivating people to be more physically active. And he can really set an example.

John runs not only marathons, but ultra-marathons. He is proud to have run the Pacific Crest 50-mile race 3 years in a row. In fact, he just finished this race a few weeks ago, and is looking forward to doing it again next year.

Medical needs aside, John also likes helping people with psychological and social needs. It's the full range of care you can expect from UrgentCare NW. Patients there can expect to see the full gamut of health care and occupational medicine in one place.

John has had 10 years working as a nurse practitioner, and one year with UrgentCare NW. He is married to a woman who is also a nurse practitioner, and they have two children.

Stop by and see John for all your medical needs, and expect to be inspired to be as healthy as you can be.

This time of year, there are those people who pay particular attention to the pollen count reported on the news. Allergies can be debilitating for anyone, and high pollen counts mean that some people are stuck indoors. That's where Dr. Austin Sargent can help. Austin is an MD PhD at UrgentCare NW--

Allergy. The staff there provides expertise and experience in the investigation, diagnosis and management of allergic disorders, asthma and clinical immunology. The business is unique, and Austin schedules appointments on the patient's needs, not by a rigid schedule.

Austin is married to a 3rd generation Oregonian. He also loves tennis, and film-based photography. On many mornings, you might see him outside walking his poodle.

Austin is most proud of the fact that he and his entire staff takes the time to listen to the patients, and develop treatments that allow them to live a happier, healthier life. The goal, of course, is to make it so that those who suffer from allergies can afford to watch something other than the pollen count on the local news. Or better yet, they can spend their mornings walking their dogs, and not worrying about their allergies.

If you ever did a rafting trip down the Grand Canyon or the Middle Fork of the Salmon River in Idaho, you may have met Joshua Raffkind. Joshua was a river guide on both of those rivers, and that sense of adventure has been something he's carried with him his whole life. Now Joshua is a Primary Care Provider and Physician's Assistant at UrgentCare NW, and they are lucky to have him. In the past, Joshua has volunteered his medical services in Kenya at a mission hospital, and he helped establish a medical center for a small rural farming village there where his emphasis was on mother-child health during pregnancy and delivery. He has been an Emergency Medical Technician, a wilderness first responder and a wilderness first responder course instructor.

Although providing medical care here in Gresham may not be as exciting as rafting the Colorado, or working in rural Africa, his career here is just as rewarding.

"It is very gratifying to be in a line of work where my day-to-day activities improve the quality of life for others," he said. That's just what UrgentCare NW does for its patients.

BEN MAY

The World Series of Poker has become more and more popular over the past several years, and Ben May, owner of Final Table Poker Club on Northeast Glisan was right in the thick of it. In fact, he played and cashed during a recent World Series event in Las Vegas, and it inspired him to begin his business. He saw a need for a poker club in the East County Area, and began offering poker and social gaming 3 months ago. He is proud to say that his club offers the most guaranteed prize pools in the Portland Metro Area, and is the roomiest, cleanest one of the bunch.

Maybe it was the 21 years he spent in the Navy that turned him on to poker. Long nights away from family and friends makes for ideal conditions for an impromptu poker game. Whatever it was, he has learned that the best thing about running his business is the fact that he gets to meet new and interesting people all of the time. Outside of his passion for poker, he also has great love for his country, his family, and any opportunity to travel. So, if you feel the need to try your luck at a hand of poker, check out Final Table. It is open 7 days a week and you will have a chance to win part of the $10,000 guaranteed prize pool.

Bob Matulef has been with Amiton Furniture for 40 years. That's a little more than half the time Amiton Furniture has graced Historic Downtown Gresham. In fact, Amiton Furniture is the oldest retail business in Historic Downtown. Bill Amiton opened the doors there in 1941. Bob, Bill's son-in-law, came along 30 years later, and has put his personal touch into the business ever since. With a B.S. in business and an MBA, Bob and his wife Debbie were the natural choice to purchase the business that was a labor of love for his father-in-law when he decided to sell three years ago. It's now Bob's labor of love, and he truly adores the time he is able to spend with his customers. In fact, helping customers find the right mattress or piece of furniture for their homes is the best part of his job.

Bob and Debbie have two sons and a daughter, all of whom have gone into technical fields, including computer science and molecular biology. But Mom and Dad are still providing quality furniture at value prices at home. ROBERT BARRIE

GRAFFITI REMOVAL SERVICES™

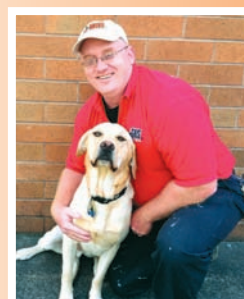

Like many entrepreneurs, Robert Barrie took a bad break in 2009 and turned it into an opportunity. After losing his job to the economy, Robert took an idea he had been contemplating for years, and turned it into a new business. Graffiti Removal Services was born. Robert loves seeing the looks on his customers' faces when they see the side of their building is back to the way it was before they were tagged. Robert can take care of graffiti removal, acid and scratch repair on flat glass, pressure washing, exterior painting, permanent and artificial coatings, and can even apply anti-graffiti film on windows.

Robert has been married for 21 years, and has a 5-year-old daughter. He also has a partner, Tucker, a rescue dog that comes with him on many of his jobs. Because they use non-toxic materials, sometimes Robert brings his daughter along to help with a project. All of his products and repair work is done using environmentally-friendly materials. And since his business is referral driven, he won't rest until the job is complete. He promises there will be NO sign of any graffiti when he finishes a project.
